

English Version

The singer/songwriter, guitar player and producer Katja Kaye comes from northern Germany but she sings like she grew up in Tennessee or Texas. Her music style is a mixture of Country, Folk and Pop.

1998 she bought a ticket to Nashville and recorded her first album „For Mom“. Since then she found a second home in „Music City USA“. She is going back and forth working on songs or studio productions for herself or other artists. With her performances at festivals, radio and TV shows she is national and international successful: whether it is at a UNICEF-Event in Sri Lanka, at a nationwide broadcasted radio show in the USA as the winner of a singing contest or at award shows receiving prizes like „Independent Album“ from GACMF (German American Country Music Federation) in 2006.

Katja Kaye has released five albums all produced by herself with the finest Nashville studio musicians, mainly independently but also with record companies. Meanwhile she is completely independent again. She learned from her experiences that she needs her space and full independence. To keep creativity and joy for music alive it is necessary for her that she has room to be spontaneous, nonconformist and to have a mind of her own.
